

My Story

The very abridged version of how and why I became a librarian.

Complete which ever you prefer. The diagram or the free text.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

How finding your question and following your curiosity can naturally craft your research identity

My Questions and Research Journey

Think about where you are in your research journey.

Are there any driving questions, even old ones, that you are still seeking answers to? Any past projects you'd like to take further? What aspects of your work do you enjoy the most?

As best you can, jot down the presentations, book chapters, articles, or other works you've done. Then try grouping them into themes or areas, and then by methodology.

Title	Theme or subject	Methodology